

Porter's Reflection:

In a horror movie there is always that moment where a character is about to open that door...the music swells, the scene becomes more intense, and you brace for what will happen next.

Every once and a while we get to have those real life moments. Today will be mine. I just posted the 2017 Fall Principal survey to our students and parents. (the link and your invite is in the yellow box) That is the funny thing about anticipation - what is on the other side of that door?

That curiosity is living. If the results are confirmation of the work I am doing – then I will be pleased to know I am on the right path. The results could be a harsh reality that will cause much reflection and revision of my practice. Either way, I will welcome either result or a mixture of both, because I am dedicated to the process of improving the learning and working conditions of our students and our staff.
